

Mr Smith has held a popular history class at Mariners since January 2007 and is employed by the WEA. He is able to bring alive his subject and enthuse the class members with the current topic. At the moment he is working on the rise of western Civilisation. During his time at the Centre Mr Smith has taught students with a range of impairments including those with communication and speech difficulties and has a high retention rate. I have found him to be both reliable and trustworthy and am happy to recommend him in the role of tutor of English as a second language to foreign students and professionals.
